

Riding the Rapids

2-DAY AGGRESSIVE PREVENTION TRAINING – (A.P.T.)
FOR TEACHERS, LEARNING MENTORS & SUPPORT STAFF

Do you find yourself being driven crazy by having to constantly deal with inappropriate behaviour in the classroom or in the playground when you really need to stay focussed and get on with teaching?

Learning to deal with young peoples' anger in schools is vital as we live in an age whereby any student may use high levels of aggression to protect themselves or make a stand for what they believe. It's no longer about the survival of the fittest but sometimes simply survival of the angriest.

The problem is that standing up for what you believe does not necessarily require an aggressive outburst and that is the key factor and focus in what the two-day 'Riding The Rapids' programme is about.

In today's society, the school is expected to make up for the shortcomings in the parenting environment. If that is the case, then teachers, learning mentors and support staff need to have the required skills in dealing with high levels of anger and stress amongst young people on a daily basis.

Riding the Rapids will offer you the key skills and tools in understanding how to identify the trigger points and strategically de-escalate anger in advance of it getting out of control.

Anger is often the source of most altercations and there are times a child does not possess the ability to rationalise what is appropriate or inappropriate when someone is hurting or embarrassing them. Virtually every conflict and every argument is a result of misguided anger and not being able to control it.

The British Association of Anger Management has been offering tried and tested anger and behaviour management programmes to teachers and learning mentors for over 13 years and we are proud to be offering this programme through the Westminster Special Schools Training and Outreach.

Who will benefit from A.P.T.

All staff in mainstream and special schools, primary and secondary; Allied education professionals; Youth practitioners; Social Care staff.

What you will learn:

- The most up to date techniques fundamental to anger management and preventing aggression.
- Personal effectiveness in communication for dealing with threatening, confrontational and angry classroom and playground situations.
- How to draw from your own insights and integrate them into the APT model.
- How to create strong personal boundaries in order to communicate effectively and assertively.
- To recognise and understand what young people need in the heat of the moment and how to deliver it without compromising your integrity.

BENEFITS OF APT:

STAFF

- Improved wellbeing
- Reduced staff absenteeism
- Improved morale
- Reduced staff turnover
- Reduced costs
- Improved productivity
- Reduced conflict at work

STUDENTS

- Improved student wellbeing
- Increased confidence
- Greater attention and concentration
- Proven support from staff
- Reduced all round conflict
- Real personal development
- Increase in well being and self esteem

WHAT A 2-DAY AGGRESSION PREVENTION TRAINING WILL TEACH YOU:

DAY 1 : Managing my Anger

We help you explore and deconstruct your own personal relationship with anger and how you manage it under pressure. If you manage your anger appropriately, you automatically model healthy and appropriate anger for young people to do the same.

Note: The insights you gain from Day 1 will guide and deepen your learning on Day 2. It is important to complete Day 1 in order to attend Day 2.

DAY 2 : Dealing with Other Peoples Anger

We cover strategies and tactics for managing challenging young people and threatening situations. The impact of Day 2 is high because of the transformational learning that is assimilated and integrated from Day 1.

The course will provide the following skills:

- The Rules of Anger Management
- Sources of Anger
- Beating Stress
- The Impact of Emotional Regression
- How to Stay Grounded and Calm
- Recognise what Triggers You and Others
- Developing Coping Strategies Immediately
- Anger Styles and Substitutes
- When to Contain and when to Assert
- Defence Mechanisms
- Conflict Resolution
- The Assault Cycle
- Power and its use in Challenging Situations
- Strategies for Controlling Angry Situations
- Not taking Anything Personally
- Developing and Maintaining healthy boundaries
- Staying Out of the Way of Danger
- Active Listening Skills

We have

Beating Anger Clinics in London, Birmingham, Derby, Bath,
Portsmouth, Guildford, Colchester,
Brighton and East Grinstead.

We are happy to travel to your area
and provide a training at a venue convenient to you.

To discuss what we can do for you please call:

0345 1300 286

or email: info@beatinganger.com

or visit: www.beatinganger.com

www.angermanage.co.uk